

2018 ONTARIO ROCK CLIMBING GUIDEBOOK UPDATE PACK

v20180701 ALL (place this sticker on inside cover to track your update version)

#0A Revival 5.10b * Right of The Hunchback. Start behind the tree, and take a delicate start minding the loose rock at the bottom. A tricky start with a tricky roof problem. Fun. (p. 68)

#0D Catch As Catch Can 5.10c * Bolted route immediately right of Guido, left of the HUGE dead tree halfway up. Shares the start with Tall Order. Climb up the tricky start that gives the route the lower grade to the base of the dead tree. Try to avoid using the tree but give in, then follow the adventurous crack laying back with partial body jamming. (p. 68)

#3 The Odyssey 5.10c * Climb past a tree you'll have no choice but to get intimate with to a burly haul fest to the finish. 65 feet 12 bolt plus anchors (quick shuts). Route-setter: Karl (p. 68, replaces Axolotl)

#3 Dandy The "D" paint is extremely faint. The route is the first opening to the climber's left of Kiss Of The Spider Woman. Look for a lone bolt hidden under a small tree at the top. (p.237)

#11 Mixed Martial Arts is 5.10a OG, but you might find it more like 5.10d. FA: Dave Zieleniewski (p.258)

#7A Butt Clencher 5.11c  Start at RESCUE#30 and climb the messy rock to the large, flat roof left of Come And Get It. Mostly a one-move roof wonder that's pre-clippable. Use a long sling below the roof to reduce drag. Route-setter: Karl. FA: Cameron Gore (p.63)
Note: Come And Get It is 3m right of RESCUE#30

#0B The Hunchback 5.10a  Climb up chunky terrain to a dark overhanging arete where a solution pocket awaits you. Clear your headspace and pull through to easier terrain above. Believe it or not, the overhang direct is about the same difficulty as if you climb the face – many are tempted to bypass via the awkward corner. Use a long draw below the arete. Route-setter: Karl. FA: Kirby Schiemann (p. 68)

(#0D continued) If you mostly climb in the gym, this route may feel tougher and awkward but it's good for your technique. Avoid the loose blocks at bolt 3 and 4, as well as the loose chockstone at the top of the crack as you approach the anchors. 65 feet. 10 bolts plus anchors.

#24 Pickpocket has been chopped as it's a historic route. It's back to mixed now, with around 6 new bolts replacing the older ones. OG (original grade) 5.9 (p.121)

#6B Hillary Crimpin * Bolted line two routes left of Prowject. Boulder problem leads to some thin slab and a "keep your shit together" middle. Move right up a series of roofs into and out of a hanging dihedral. FA: Mike Penny, Mike Smythe (p. 179)

#5A Seams Better 5.12b/c  Technical thin climbing on crimps and gastons through the crux leads to easier climbing before a roof with a badass cut feet throw and a hold your shit together move to the anchors (i.e. runout). FA and equipped by Mike Smythe. (p.195 right of Idle Hands)

#8 Waveguiding * This route is two pitches, around 10 bolts per pitch – 20 bolts/draws if done in one pitch. Pitch 2 anchors can be reached from the edge, but (better) rap anchors are 6m inland. Please help clean up the loose rock at the top by moving it well inland (say, the gully by the rap anchors). Bring a sturdy reusable shopping bag. (p. 223)

p. 234 Cumulus Wall. If you're rappelling in to lead the routes on the overhang finish routes (e.g. Cumulus), watch out for severe rope drag when clipping the rope into directionals if you're rappelling in to lead. The second rappeller should unclip directionals while the first holds the rope to guide the climber to the belay station. 10+ bolts, 60 feet

p. 256 Ladyslipper Area (bolt count) 5.9 Skunks Do It In Tevas: 9 bolts (8 bolts + anchors); 5.10a Ladyslipper: 8 bolts ; 5.11d So! You Think You Know Kung-Fu?: 13 bolts; 5.11d Honey Badger: 12 bolts p. 290 Two Eyed Monster and Diamond In The Rough order is reversed. Diamond is before Two-Eyed Monster.

#6 Big Bolts For Daddy 5.10b  Start on a flaky crack and move through a thinner but interesting crux section. 8 bolts, 40 feet. (p. 67 replaces Big Grunt For Daddy)

#0C Nostalgia 5.11a  Bolted route right of the huge dead tree halfway up and 5m right of Guido. Start on a sharp flake and follow messy cracks and flakes to the bulging face above. A potentially heartbreaking crux with a small pocket awaits you before the anchors. Great movement. Skipping the direct finish using The Hunchback drops the grade. 50 feet 8 bolts plus anchors. Route-setter: Karl. (p. 68)

#0E Tall Order 5.11d  Bolted route immediately right of Guido, left of the HUGE dead tree halfway up. Shares the start with Catch As Catch Can. When you're level with the base of the dead tree, follow a crimp line left of the bolts while avoiding the crack. 65 feet. 10 bolts plus anchors. (p. 68)

p. 131 Extra directions. From the boardwalk over the small stream, it's about 3-5 minutes to the junction for the climber's side trail. If the trail descends, then you've gone too far.

#4 Onsen – 9 bolts + anchors. The finish has a very awkward finish around a bush. (p.185)

#5 Idle Hands 5.12b * Starts immediately right of Block And Tackle's obvious crack line. Casual climbing to the second bolt. Move up the blank looking face to a heart shaped block under the roof. Move up and right through the roof and small corner and left back onto the upper face. Rest prior to a gymnastic upper section. FA: Mike Penny 7 bolts plus anchors. (p. 195, replaces #5 Project)

#3 Mr. Bojangles The "Mr. B" paint is extremely faint, almost gone. Please help clean up the loose rock at the top by moving it well inland (say 10m in away from the slope). Bring a sturdy reusable shopping bag. Make sure you're tied in. (p. 226)

p. 238 Maneline has links on the hanging belay stations for rappelling to the ground routes (mostly Roaming Gypsies). You still need to leave tree anchors for the first rappel regardless.

p. 293 TV Tower Space Wall to Tower Crack is better approached from the South, and is nicer for your car. At the Scenic Caves Road and Tower Road junction, take Tower Road south, merge onto Jackson Cove Road and park at the Jackson Cove side trail lot. The white blaze trail is further downhill and across the road. 20 minutes to Tower Crack. See updates page for photos/more info.

p. 106 Air Jamaica – (more info) Substantial rock fall has made this route harder. Possibly 5.12c/d

#7B Fortune Teller 5.12c * – Just left of Whoopee Cushion. 5 Bolts + Anchors. FA: Leslie Timms (p.145)

p. 215 Headspace 5 bolts 50 feet

p. 227 Windy City From The Ground. 11 bolts plus anchors. 100 feet. 30 Years Pitch One 8 bolts plus anchors. 60 feet.

p. 241 Buccaneer 8 bolts 65 feet

p. 231 5 routes Right of You've Been Hibbed

The Safety Meeting Cracks (right to left) – see <http://www.leslietimms.ca/2017/08/risk-reward.html> for more information and ontariorockclimbing.com/updates for the topo photo

#1 Risk Reward 5.10b - Start on the right most crack, on the shore. Boulder up the initial steep crack to a rest. Then enjoy varied cracks to the top. Belay off trad anchor, walk off. Standard rack. Optional #5 FFA: Leslie Timms, Dave Zieleniewski (p.231)

#4 Victory Torch 5.10a - The first crack left of You've Been Hibbed. Requires a boat for belaying. Enjoy steep jams the entire way. Finish on anchor of You've Been Hibbed, clean and lower back to boat. Standard rack. FFA: Leslie Timms, Dave Zieleniewski

#9A Independent Woman 5.11b – Climb the right side of the tree to start. Run out to first piece of gear (about 20 feet). Undercling the wet but solid roof, pull around the corner, then jam, layback, chimney to the top. Sparse gear in the chimney but it is easy climbing. You can reach right and clip bolts of Ghost if you feel skittish! The route tops out. Use anchors of Ghost for seconding and rappel. FA: Anna Pirko p.229

#3A Peanut Butter Punch 5.6 - Climb blocky ledges left of Bei Tagelischt. EQ: James Walker (p. 42)

#10 The Left Hand of Memnoch 5.11+ – (more info) A significant block has fallen off around the third bolt making the route substantially harder. Hopefully, the block will be glued back in place. (p.185)

#4 Global Warming (more info) The best way to reach Global Warming's anchors is to rappel past American Bucks' anchors. (p. 237)

p. 245 Surf Zone 7 bolts plus anchors.

p. 246 Plastic Victory Jug 7 bolts plus anchors

p. 253 Spirit In The Sky 6 bolts plus anchors. Scalphunter 6 bolts plus anchors.

Most of the cliff requires a boat for belaying. The two right most routes can be belayed from the shore. The cracks are short but clean, steep and require a variety of jamming techniques. The gear placements are quite good and creative trad anchors can be built on the top for top-belays/lower/rappel. You can walk off the formation to climbers right. The routes were all done, ground up and it is safe to do so. Climbs are described from right to left.

#2 Gone Fisting 5.11a - Just left of Risk Reward is a left leaning crack. Traverse left ward (walk the plank) using thin hand jams to a rest. Head up towards the roof, build a safety nest and crush the crux. The name blows your on sight. Build trad anchor and walk off/lower. Standard rack to #3 BD FA: Leslie Timms, Dave Zieleniewski

#5 Sea Legs 5.9+ - Follow the finger crack to a roof just left of Victory Torch. Pull the roof and follow crack to top. Trad anchor. Requires a boat for belaying. FFA: Leslie Timms

p.298 Medusa 5.10c (more info) - Medusa has anchors, with a permadraw protecting the super wide section. Grade is 10c. Still needs 4s, 5s, and 6s to climb.

p. 203 No need to cut out coupon for coffee. Get Rachel to sign it.

#7A Sharp Tooth 5.11b * - Climb through a series of bulges past the distinctive namesake hold to greet a potentially onsight-eliminating sequence just before the anchors. FA: Scott Chuback (p. 84)

#16 New Way Out 5.10a  Left of Lost At Sea at the tip of the ledge. A balancy climb that serves as a base exit alternative. FA: Gracey Williamson 7+bolts (p.220)

#13 The Punisher (more info) – The new anchors feel shaky, but it's due to the use of a very long bolt and has been tested to be solid (p. 278)

p.255 Bolt counts Intergalactic Cantaloupes 8 bolts plus anchors. Watermelon Winers – 9 bolts plus cold shuts

p. 259 Weekday Warrior 8 bolts plus anchors, 1 permadraw for cleaning. The Apprentice 8 bolts plus anchors.

#3 Safety Meeting 5.11c -The centerpiece of the wall. Follows angling cracks and seams to a large cedar tree at the top. Requires a boat for belaying. Standard thin rack. FA: Leslie Timms

p. 83 Lord Tubbington – consensus grade is 5.13a
